Bash Shell Scripting

Scope of the Variables in Functions and
Returning variable value from a Function

`#!/bin/bash`

Variables in Functions

- There are two types of variables.
- They are:
    - Global
    - Local

- All variables are global by default.
- Local variables are allowed to define inside of function only.

- Return a variable value using return key or echo command

Thank you